Introduction

This is the sixth edition of the International Tax Handbook that has been produced by Nexia International, Nexia International is a leading worldwide network of independent accounting and consulting firms, providing a comprehensive portfolio of audit, accountancy, tax and advisory services. I would like to thank all the contributors for their invaluable assistance.

This edition contains more chapters than previous editions of this book and each chapter provides an overview of the tax system in the relevant country and deals with information generally sought by businesses to understand the fiscal regime. This edition continues to include details of the withholding taxes applied to the major cross border transactions based on the double taxation conventions.

This book has been prepared in a tabular format to unify the content of each chapter and highlight the core tax aspects for each country. Each section is split into corporate, personal and indirect taxes which should provide the reader with an overview of the tax system in place in a specific country.

Every effort has been taken to ensure that the information provided in this book is accurate and up to date. However, it is only meant to provide a general overview of the prevailing tax systems and should not be used as a substitute for professional tax advice.

Neither the author nor the publishers can accept any responsibility for any loss sustained by any person relying on the information provided in this book and failing to seek appropriate professional advice.

Therefore, I would like to stress the importance of obtaining local advice before any action is taken or decision is made. Any queries can be addressed to the local Nexia offices directly, using the contact information provided in the Handbook. 	Residents	Non-residents
General description	The Value Added Tax Act (VAT Act) regulates the levying of value added tax (VAT) of residents (physical, legal and unpersonified, performing an independent economic activity), as well as non-resident individuals, where it is provided for by the law
Entities obliged to levy VAT	Taxable person is any person who carries out an independent economic activity, whatever its purpose and results, as well as any person who casually carries out an intra-Community supply of a new vehicle for consideration
Taxable activities	VAT is levied on: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>– any taxable supply of goods or services for consideration;</li> <li>– any inter-Community acquisition (ICA) for consideration with the place of performance in the country, made by a person registered under the VAT Act, or by any person who should be registered;</li> <li>– any ICA for consideration of new vehicles where the place of performance is within the country;</li> <li>– any ICA for consideration of excise goods where the place of performance is within the country, when the recipient is a taxable person or non-taxable legal person, who is not registered under this Act;</li> <li>– import of goods</li> </ul>
Taxable activities – zero-rated (examples)	Zero rate is applied to intra-Community supplies (ICS), export of goods outside the EU, international transport and others
Exemptions (examples)	VAT is not charged for an exempt supply, a free-of-tax intra-Community acquisition (ICA), as well as for a supply where the place of performance is outside the country  Other examples of exempt supplies, under certain conditions, are: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• supplies regarding healthcare, education, sports</li> <li>• supplies related to land and buildings</li> <li>• delivery of financial and insurance services</li> </ul>
Refund of VAT	The VAT Act entitles a tax credit to be taken in respect of goods or services acquired which will be used for the performance of taxable supplies (including at 0% rate) both in the country and also with a place of performance outside Bulgaria  Right of deduction of tax credit is not available when the goods and services are related to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• exempt supplies</li> <li>• gratuitous supplies or activities, other than those of the economic activity of the person – eg donations, personal use of goods and others</li> <li>• representation and entertainment purposes – eg business lunches and dinners, gifts and more</li> <li>• purchase, rental and operating costs of cars (ie cars where the number of seats, excluding the driver, does not exceed 5). This group does not include cars for freight (ie 1 driver + 1 other). Operating costs for which a tax credit is not available include fuel, repairs, maintenance, parking and others of a similar nature</li> </ul> Right to a partial tax credit is available for purchases that are related to both exempt and taxable supplies. The amount of the partial tax credit is determined as the amount of the tax credit multiplied by the coefficient obtained as the ratio between the turnover for supplies for which the person is entitled to a tax credit, and the turnover of all supplies made by the person

VI NATIONAL SOCIAL SECURITY FUND (NSSF)

The National Social Security Fund (NSSF) provides employees with insurance coverage for sickness and maternity care. It also covers family allowances, end-of-service pension, and work related accidents and diseases. Any employee or labourer in any sector is eligible to enrol in the program. Employers are required to register in NSSF all Lebanese employees working for local and international firms. Foreign employees with a valid work permit and residence permit are entitled to join NSSF, provided their home country offers equivalent or better programs to Lebanese residents employed there. Foreign Nationals are not entitled for end-of-service benefits. Employer contribution is 6% of salary toward family allowances (with a ceiling of 1,500,000 L.L from the salary for the family), and 7% for health (with a ceiling of 2,500,000 L.L from the salary for the health), and a flat 8.5% for end of service. The employee pays a 2% for health coverage with a monthly ceiling of LBP50,000.
END OF SERVICE
At the age of 60, an employee can ask for early retirement and end-of-service compensation (paid only once) provided 20 years of service have been completed. Noting that the retirement age is 64, an employee no longer benefits from the NSSF. An employee can continue working after 64 if the company's by-law allows him, but he will no longer benefit from the end of service. The end of service indemnity will allow the employee to receive a month's wage equivalent to the last salary for every year worked.
FAMILY, TRANSPORTATION AND EDUCATION ALLOWANCE
Employees are entitled to family, transportation, and education allowances, attached to the husband's rather than wife's salary, except if the female employee is a widow or sole provider. A married employee registered with NSSF receives a spouse allowance of LBP60,000 and an additional LBP33,000 for every child (maximum 5 children); this amount is paid by the NSSF through the employers. Employees are given LBP8,000 transport allowance for every day they go to work; this amount is free of tax. Education allowance is a lump sum for children up to the age of 25, attending school or university. A LBP300,000 (US$200) is allowed per child attending a public school or the Lebanese University, with a ceiling of LBP1.5 million. If the child is in a private school or university, the allowance increases to LBP750,000 (US$500) per child, but the same ceiling applies. This allowance does not form part of the NSSF employer contributions but is accounted for as operational expenses, and it is free of tax.
NSSF HEALTH BENEFITS
Once an employee is registered, the NSSF covers the employee and dependants in maternity, sickness, and work-related accidents. The employee is liable for 10% of all hospitalization costs and 20% of medication and examination expenses. Exceptions are made for pre-maternity and post-maternity examinations, which the NSSF pays in full.
COMPLIANCE
The law requires all companies to contribute to the NSSF Fund. Firm with less than 10 employees have to submit reports and pay contributions every three months. Larger enterprises that contain more than 10 employees must submit their reports and settle their contribution on a monthly basis. Evading the payments will impose fines on the employer. Fines are calculated by 0.5% or 0.05% for each day late for non-payment of the contribution amount.

1 The Mozambican Corporate Income Tax Code (CITC) includes some rules for thin capitalization (art 52).

The CITC states that, where loans from related foreign corporations exceed twice the corresponding equity in the borrowing Mozambican corporation, the interest on the excess borrowing is not tax deductible.

The Mozambican thin capitalization rules state that subsidiaries are considered and treated as thinly capitalized companies if and to the extent that, as at any date of the tax period, any of their relevant debt-to-equity ratios exceeds a factor of two.

For the application of the thin capitalization rules, a 'specially related non-resident' is an entity with special links with another, which includes any entity that:

- holds, either directly or indirectly, at least 25% of the share capital of the Mozambican company;
- though holding less than 25%, has a significant influence on its management; or
- both taxpayer and non-resident entity are under control of the same entity, which has participation in their share capital, either directly or indirectly.

Under any of above circumstances, interest made available (debit of income statement or paid) to such specially related non-residents is not allowed as a tax-deductible cost for the Mozambican company in the portion that corresponds to the excessive indebtedness, unless the company can prove that it could have obtained the same level of indebtedness at comparable conditions from unrelated parties, taking into account the nature of its business, its sector of activity, dimension, and other relevant criteria.

<sup>1</sup> Permanent Establishment (PE) – There is no definition of PE in the Myanmar Income Tax Act. The Myanmar tax authorities seek to collect taxes from a non-resident company on its income received from Myanmar by way of a withholding tax mechanism, regardless of whether the non-resident company has a PE in Myanmar or not. However, the term PE may be defined in the Double Tax Agreements (DTAs) that Myanmar has entered into with other countries. Subject to the DTA, a non-resident company which is a resident of the treaty country may not be subject to Myanmar income tax if it does not have a PE in Myanmar.

Tax rate	Normally 30%, except for certain kinds of income as discussed below

1 The term resident corporation should be understood as being limited to domestic corporations organised and existing under the laws of the Philippines to differentiate it from permanent establishment of a foreign corporation.

2 The term 'permanent establishment' should be understood to include foreign corporations authorised or licensed to do business (by establishing a branch or as a resident foreign corporation) as well as foreign corporations although not licensed to do business but actually engaged in trade or business in the Philippines for which tax treaty relief has been obtained from the Philippine Internal Revenue Service that it has a permanent establishment under the pertinent tax treaty between the country of which it is a resident and the Philippines. Absent the tax treaty relief or licence to do business, such foreign corporations are treated as non-resident foreign corporations taxable on gross income without any allowable deduction. However, the Supreme Court has issued another decision that there is no need to obtain prior tax treaty relief to avail of the benefits of a tax treaty. Tax treaties must be honoured by the Philippine government and failure to secure such tax treaty relief would only subject the tax treaty resident to penalties for failure to obtain tax treaty relief. Such recent Supreme Court decision is already final as it is ruled against the motion for reconsideration filed by the Philippine government. Notwithstanding this recent Supreme Court decision, the Philippine Internal Revenue is still requiring the filing of a tax treaty relief application, not necessarily prior to the availing of the tax treaty benefits, in order to claim the tax treaty benefits. With this development, the treaty applicant might have to go to the courts to claim the tax treaty benefits in the absence of an approved tax treaty relief from the tax authorities.

V INDIRECT TAXES

		Residents	Non-residents
Value Added Tax (VAT)	General description	VAT became effective on 1 June 1999 (reformed on 5 May 1999) and is applicable to economic agents
	Entities obliged to levy VAT	The following categories of taxpayers are subject to VAT: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Individuals or companies usually selling tangible goods</li> <li>• Importers of tangible goods and services</li> <li>• Individuals or companies usually performing services of an independent nature</li> <li>• Public agencies or enterprises owned by the nation, the states, municipalities or independent public institutions which usually conduct taxable activities, as well as occasional taxpayers, the latter being importers of goods or services not falling into any of the preceding categories</li> </ul>
	Taxable activities	The obligation to pay VAT arises from the following activities: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Sales and removal or disposal of tangible personal goods located in Venezuela or nationalised</li> <li>• Permanent importation of tangible goods</li> <li>• Importation of services to be used in Venezuela</li> <li>• Rendering of services in Venezuela on an independent basis</li> </ul>
	Taxable activities – zero-rated (examples)	All activities described above will be zero-rated when those activities take place in Nueva Esparta State
	Exemptions (examples)	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Non-permanent imports of goods which enter the country under the temporary admission and drawback regimes; sales of such personal goods as fiscal instruments, stocks, bonds</li> <li>• mortgage bonds, etc and, in general, transactions and services performed by banks, insurance companies and other financial institutions</li> <li>• Imports made by passengers and ship or aircraft crew-members when made as accompanied baggage are exempt from the tax provided the goods in question are also exempt from import duties. Imports made by organisations which operate tax-free under international agreements are also exempt. In addition, transfers of raw animal or vegetable food products, rice, flour, chicken eggs among others are exempt from VAT, as is land, ocean, river or lake and air national passenger transportation</li> </ul>
	Refund of VAT	Exporters and industrial projects with a pre-operating stage longer than 6 months may request reimbursement of the tax credits paid for their activities. In the specific case of industrial projects, the VAT to which they are subject shall be indexed when the entities begin operations. However, the taxpayer may waive such indexing and has the option to request a tax credit certificate

		Residents	Non-residents
Value Added Tax (VAT) – cont'd	Tax liability	The activities mentioned above are taxable as follows: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• In relation to sales of tangible goods, when the invoice or equivalent document is issued to record the transaction, when paid, or when the goods are delivered, whichever comes first</li> <li>• In relation to the permanent importation of goods and services, when they are imported into the country</li> <li>• In relation to rendering of services, when the invoice is issued, the service is completed, or total or partial payment is made</li> </ul>
	Tax rates	12% general 12% general plus an additional 10% 8%
	Administrative obligations	Merchants shall specify what they are charging for with the merchandise or service they sell, and what the respective VAT chargeable to the sale price is. Each taxpayer receives a tax credit for the taxes paid in connection with its purchases, which is subtracted from the tax generated by the value of its billings (tax debit)  Taxpayers must keep additional books, records, and files for this purpose, and must file a return setting out their transactions under accounting rules within the first 15 days of the calendar month following that of the transactions. A special account must be opened to record the tax debits and credits
Municipal Taxes		The municipal business tax is based on gross income and rates vary between municipalities and types of economic activity, and normally have a progressive scale. In many cases, the municipal tax rate is a small percentage of gross sales. For example, the rates in force in the Capital District vary from 0.3% to 9.4% of gross income, depending on the activity. Since these taxes are set at the district (rather than the state or national) level, the different city councils have a great deal of leeway in determining the tax rates and in granting exoneration to attract companies to their jurisdictions  The new Constitution of the Republic of Venezuela, which became effective on 30 December 1999, has established that the industrial, business and services economic activity could be subject to tax in the municipalities
Stamp Duty		From 2 May 2012, Capital Stamp Tax is charged by the Mercantile Registries of the District Capital at the rate of 2% on subscribed or increased share capital  There are a number of stamp duties chargeable on official documents
